As a result of being bitten by a copperhead snake at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Minnie Scheer, 45 years old wife of Taylor Scheer, of the St. John's neighborhood, is lying in a precarious condition at her home today. Hope for her recovery was expressed today by her physician, Dr. Q. L. Shelton, of Lone Oak, and she showed some signs of improvement this afternoon.

A BOY'S HOLIDAYS.

The ardent controversy which has been waging in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway System to issue a special publication giving suggestions and practical hints to parents, as to what to do with the school boy during the months of July and August. The vacation camp is one of the solutions and the publication entitled, "What Shall a Boy do with his Vacation?" thoroughly covers the ground. A copy may be obtained for the asking by applying to W. S. Cookson, 917 Merchants Loan & Trust Building, Chicago.

A taste for chicken is not the only appetite a preacher needs.

Mrs. Addie Thompson.
Mrs. Addie Thompson, 67 years old, of 1314 Trimble street, died at 11:15 o'clock last night after an illness of asthma. She was born in Greenup county November 16, 1842, and had been a member of the Methodist church since early life. She was a member of the Fountain Avenue church here and had resided in Paducah for eight years. She leaves two daughters, Miss Ella Thompson, of Paducah, and Mrs. Wade Brown, of Frankfort, Ky.

Worms

"Cascarets are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Freck, of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarets. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood." Chas. E. Coodoo, Lewistown, Pa., (Mifflin Co.)

WOLTER TO DIE FOR HIS CRIME

YOUTH IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING GIRL.

Big Crowd in Court; Largest Since Thaw Was on Trial—Ruth Wheeler.

DEATH IS MOST REVOLTING.

New York, April 23.—Albert Wolter, the degenerate youth, 19 years of age, who gloated over lewd pictures and was "crazy" about women, must die in the electric chair for the murder of Ruth Wheeler, a pretty 15-year-old stenographer. After one hour and fifteen minutes' deliberation the jury in the court of special sessions found him guilty of murder in the first degree. Wolter evinced no emotion when the verdict was announced. He had been asleep in his cell while the jury was deliberating. He will be sentenced Wednesday.

Ruth Wheeler was killed on March 24. Failing to dispose of her body in a fire place, Wolter cut it apart and left the bust and head wrapped in burlap on the fire escape from where it was pushed into the yard below.

Wolter was arrested March 26 and placed on trial Monday last. He denies ever knowing Ruth Wheeler, but the testimony showed that she had been lured to his room expecting to obtain work as a stenographer. There Wolter had attempted to criminally assault her and had murdered her in a struggle, strangling her with a rope tied about her neck.

Testimony for Wolter closed with his own story. He was cool and collected but writhed under the searing cross-examination of the state.

When the counsel began the summing up the crowd in the court room was the largest that had gathered in the criminal court building since Harry Thaw was on trial.

CAR BUILDER

ALBERT ALQUIST, OF MEMPHIS, NEW FOREMAN.

Colored Laborer Is Struck and Knocked Into Water in the Boat Yards.

It is considered a reliable tip that Albert Alquist, of Memphis, will succeed C. W. Grate, who resigned this week as master car builder of the car department of the local Illinois Central shops. Master Mechanic J. H. Nash stated this morning that no official appointment had been made, but it is generally known among the shop employees that Mr. Alquist will arrive Monday to take charge of the shop.

Tuesday Mr. Alquist was in the city and looked over the shop and it is said he returned to Memphis for the purpose of arranging his duties before coming to Paducah. He is a car inspector in Memphis and is a man well liked by the local carmen who are acquainted with him.

Struck by Blow.
Struck by a heavy box striking him, James Lewis, a colored laborer in the boat yards, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock.

Lewis was assisting in moving a heavy box across a plank, when the board turned and he dropped into the river. The box of freight also fell into the water and struck Lewis on the chest. Employees quickly fished him out and after reviving him, he was carried to the railroad hospital. It was found that he was bruised, but no bones were fractured.

James Whitfield, a colored laborer at the shops, was injured yesterday afternoon when a motor started suddenly. Several games were out on his face.

Master Mechanic J. H. Nash returned last night from Louisville, where he has been several days on business.

W. M. Tucker, foreman of the boiler shop, returned yesterday from Duketown, Tenn., where he attended the funeral and burial of Miss Love Laws.

An 8% Stock in a Company That Earned $32,761,341 in 1909

You can become a stockholder in this great Company, owning or controlling the entire Bell Telephone System, long distance and toll lines, and the Western Union Telegraph Co.

What is This Great Company?

Organized in 1885, The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., owned and operated long distance and toll lines throughout the U. S. and Canada. In 1909 it took over the American Bell Telephone Co., together with control of 35 Bell Companies, covering the United States and Canada. It also controls the Western Electric Co., largest makers of telephone instruments and equipment in the world.

Acquires Western Union Telegraph Co.

Late in 1909, a substantial interest was acquired in the Western Union Telegraph Co. The same wires can be used at the same time for telephoning and telegraphing. Telegrams can be both collected and delivered by telephone. These are bare indications of the advantages to the companies and to the public which this interest affords. Improvements and innovations which will lead to greater public use of both methods of communication are now under study.

How the Company Has Grown

In 1900 the company had 632,941 telephones in use. On Dec. 31, 1909, 1,142,022—or one for every seventeen inhabitants of the United States. The increase during 1909 was nearly 18%—a remarkable testimonial to the ever increasing public appreciation of the necessity of the telephone in business and social life.

The Company's Immense Income

The company has two principal sources of income. The first and greater source is as a holding company; the second is as an operating company. As a holding company it owns a majority of the stocks and a large amount of bonds of the various Bell Companies throughout the United States and Canada; also the Western Electric Co. Its holdings in these companies amount to $390,466,150. On these securities, during 1909, it received in interest and dividends $26,610,644.

Earned $32,761,341 in 1909

This company owns and directly operates all the long distance and toll lines which connect its subsidiary Bell Companies throughout the United States and Canada. The total gross income from this source in 1909 was over four million dollars. The total gross income from all sources for 1909, was $32,761,341.

Its Stupendous Property Assets

The holdings of actual, tangible, physical property of the Bell system amount to over $600,000,000—exceeding the total capital liabilities by over $35,000,000. Yet these assets do not include the incalculable value of rights of way, patent rights, franchises, etc.—rights of way alone having cost $8,000,000.

Daily Thought.

Never depend upon your genius; if you have any talent, industry will improve it; if you have none, industry will supply the deficiency.
—Ruskin.

We've just got to have March, either in March or some other month.

When some poor devil, overwhelmed by the announcement of his fate, sits dumbfounded and speechless in the dock, an observant audience concludes that he is the only unmoved person in the court room.

Thieves and gamblers are being whipped away from the necessities of life slowly but surely. Expositors of the stock exchanges of the large cities reveal the fact that brokers have a code of ethics and don't keep it. Any code of ethics lower than that great code given to all humanity must necessarily lower the morale of those who adopt it, and the higher code would inhibit gambling at the very outset.

ROOSEVELT'S JUDGMENT OF HIMSELF.

Today Theodore Roosevelt delivered an address before the student body of the University of Paris, one of the oldest, if not the oldest, of the great universities of the world. Its students constitute a select body of scholars from every part of the civilized world, who secure there certain scientific training which they cannot obtain to an equally satisfactory degree elsewhere, even at the great German universities; they are men steeped in the knowledge of modern advanced learning in all branches, men who expect to devote their lives to the attainment of knowledge and the advancement of science. If there ever was gathered together a body of men before whom a speaker would be stripped naked as to the soundness of his logic and the truth of his culture, it was faced today by Theodore Rosevelt. What he said before them is published in The Evening Sun today, and for the first time, perhaps, in the earth's history, a generation has the opportunity to measure the life and words and deeds of one of its own statesmen by his own standard of ethics. We know that what he says before those scholars at the University of Paris must ring true to sound logic and true culture, and we have the record of his administration and his policies and preachments upon the hustings before us. The citizen of America, who fails to read what Roosevelt spoke to those savants upon "Citizenship in a Republic" is missing an opportunity to judge for himself the character of Theodore Roosevelt, citizen and statesman.

What did you expect? A learned technical discourse upon a theme above your head? Ripe scholarship, acquaintance with the best thought of the age, well assimilated knowledge of history and the science of government and man, appeared through it all; but it was the common virtues of the citizen and the home he preached; the sound doctrine of common sense, purity and honesty; patriotic sentiment, fighting zeal for the right, individualism, independence and—could he forget it—the crime of race suicide.

mon-messages of Roosevelt to congress, will find comfort in reading what Roosevelt told these scholars, and will know that those things, which he has preached at home on the stump are the clear expression of his own standards of citizenship, declared before the most profound scholarship of the world assembled at Paris today.

THE REACTION.

The reaction from the unjust abuse of President Taft, which found its inception in the "uplift" magazines, which do not wish to pay more postage than newspapers, is coming sooner than we expected, though no more certainly. Many newspapers, who joined the chorus, are now comparing him with Roosevelt, much to his credit. The Louisville Times is one of these. Last evening the Times said editorially of Taft:

"We agree with Hearst that 'a quiet, earnest gentleman, who came into office when the country was in the slough of adversity, and, after one year in office, has placed the country on the high road to prosperity; is quite as valuable a president as a more showy and spectacular president, who found the country in the height of prosperity, and left it in the depth of adversity.' And no fair-minded man will deny that confidence in Mr. Taft's ability has been as potent a factor for the return of prosperity."

"Again we agree with Mr. Hearst that Mr. Taft is carrying out Roosevelt's policies in the way they ought to be carried out; that is to say, he is doing the things that Roosevelt should have done but did not do."

"If the railroads and other corporations could, with safety, speak out in meeting, it would not be surprising to hear them confess that, of the two, they preferred the loudness of Mr. Roosevelt's bark to the sharpness of Mr. Taft's bite."

"If Mr. Taft can get congress to carry out his will, the railroads, though deprived of none of the rights which their necessity and usefulness to the public good demand for them, would be, for the first time in their history, subject to a regulation strong enough to prevent an unjust exercise of power."

"The corporation tax bill, the overcapitalization bill, the parcels post measure and the income tax, to which Mr. Hearst refers, will, if they become law, put an actual regulative power in the hands of the government in which, if there be danger, it will be the danger of excess of governmental authority."

"Mr. Taft is doing, or rather trying to do quietly and effectively what Mr. Roosevelt was satisfied in shouting through a megaphone that he was just about to do."

The Times agrees with Mr. Taft on every point, excepting the tariff, and Mr. Taft, no doubt, will be perfectly willing to put his administration to the test on that issue; for whenever the country faces the choice between aiding by the present measure until the tariff commission reports, and an immediate revision by persons, whose only idea is to whack down the rates, regardless of consequences, the country is likely to do what it has done on every similar occasion.

The Smithland Banner comes out candidate.—Caldiz Record.

the deer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marked by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he falls while daring greatly, so that his pilot shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat. Shame on the man of cultivated taste who permits refinement to develop into a fastidiousness that unfits him for doing the rough work of a work-a-day world. Among the free peoples who govern themselves there is but a small field of usefulness open for the men of cloistered life who shrink from contact with their fellows.
Still less room is there for those who deride or slight what is done by those who actually bear the burden of the day; nor yet for those others who always profess that they would like to take action, if only the conditions of life were not what they actually are. The man who does nothing cuts the same sordid figure in the pages of history, whether he be cynic, or fop, or voluptuary.

Common Virtues.

Let those who have, keep, let those who have not, strive to attain, a high standard of civility and scholarship. Yet let us remember that these stand second to certain other things. There is need of a sound mind, and even more need of a sound body. But above mind and above body stands character—the sum of those qualities which we mean when we speak of a man's force and courage, of his good faith and sense of honor. I speak to a brilliant assembly; I speak in a great university, which represents the flower of the highest intellectual development; I pay all homage to intellect, and to elaborate and specialized training of the intellect; and yet I know I shall have the assent of all of you present when I add that more important still are the commonplace, everyday qualities and virtues.

Such ordinary, everyday qualities include the will and the power to work, to fight at need, and to have plenty of healthy children. The average man must earn his own livelihood. He should be trained to do so, and he occupies a contemptible position if he does not do so; that he is not an object of envy if he is idle, at whichever end of the social scale he stands, but an object of contempt, an object of derision.

In the next place, the good man should be both a strong and a brave man; that is, he should be able to fight, he should be able to serve his country as a soldier if the need arises. There are well-meaning philosophers who declaim against the unrighteousness of war. They sro right only if they lay all their emphasis upon the unrighteousness.
War is a dreadful thing, an unjust war is a crime against humanity.

RUNAWAY GIRLS

ARE SENT BACK TO THEIR HOME AT PRINCETON.

Police Pick Them Up on Request of the Authorities at Their Home.

Simple life became obnoxious to Annie and Fannie Riley, 16 and 17 years old, respectively, at Princeton, and yesterday they conspired to face the bitter world and seek other spots on the map where life might be gay and more dashing. Paducah is no place for runaway girls, but these two did not find this out until they ran into Patrolman R. W.
Vlek's arms about 6 o'clock yesterday evening at the Union station.
Instead of crying they giggled and told the officer they were just plain runaways. They were bundled up and taken to police headquarters and afterwards taken to a nearby boarding house to spend the night.
Chief of Police B. H. Hopper, of Princeton, arrived this morning and took the two prodigals back to their mother, Mrs. Polly Riley.
Chief Singery received a long distance call from Chief Hopper yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock notifying him to look out for the two girls.

DRAINAGE MUST PRECEDE PAVING

GENERAL COUNCIL COMMITTEE DEFERS SOME WORK.

Advice of City Engineer Washington is Heeded and Several Streets are Ignored.

NO MONEY FOR STORM SYSTEM

It was impressed forcibly upon the street committee of the general council last night that it will be useless to improve many of the streets with concrete sidewalks and curbs and gutters until an extensive system of storm water sewers is constructed. City Engineer L. A.
Washington said the improvements would be useless unless some provision was made to drain off the water, and as a result the committee decided to drop some of the proposed work.

Because of the lack of the proper storm water sewers the improvements on Tenth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets from Broadway to Trimble street was deferred. Also the improvements on Monroe, Madison and Harrison streets between Everett and Seventeenth streets were deferred. Mr. Washington said he is doubtful of the success of the drainage of water on Clay street between Fourteenth and Seventeenth streets.

No action was taken on the question of replacing brick sidewalks with concrete on Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth streets between Jefferson and Trimble streets, and Fifth street between Kentucky avenue and Norton street.

On the request of Councilman Bower it was ordered that the first improvement work be made on Meyers street, and on request of Alderman Potter, Brown street will be graveled from Broad street to the site of the proposed R.R. on the way to the Union station.

A petition from property owners, asking for the graveled of Fourteenth street between Burnett and Flournoy streets, was received and an ordinance ordered passed in.
Councilmen McCarty and Bower were appointed members of a committee to interview property owners and secure dedications of property for opening Hubbard street between Sixth and Fourth streets.

City Engineer Washington showed the committee a map of the proposed improvements in Mechanics-burg. Some of the streets are entirely too narrow to permit the grass plots provided for in the ordinance. As a result of narrow streets it was ordered that the improvement of Yeiser avenue between Ash-brook and Hays avenues be stricken from the list.

The draining and opening of Kentucky avenue west of Twenty-third street was referred to the board of public works and city engineer.

City Solicitor James Campbell recommended that separate ordinances be drawn for the grading and graveled of streets and for the sidewalks and gutters.

ONE CONDUCTOR WHO WAS CURED.
Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he was about 10 years of age when he was confined to his bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills with good effect, and the third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky. Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. Gilbert's drug store.

Ways Gets Big Job.

An extra force of men will be employed at the marine ways, First and Washington street, beginning next week when work of rebuilding the Illinois Central Railroad company's transfer boat "W. H. Duncan" will begin. Captain Williams has just returned from Chicago where he closed a contract with the railroad officials for the big job. The work is to be completed in 90 days, and Captain Williams said this morning he would work a force of 200 men, all of whom would be kept busy for that period to take care of the work.
Only a few men have been working at the ways and shops are being taken to secure mechanics at once.

While the Duncan is being repaired the DeKoven is transferring cars from here to Hookport. The C. & E.
I. towboat Condon is nearing completion on the ways and will be let out next week after extensive repairs.

She will return to Jopka, Ill. Captain Williams said there were prospects for a large amount of work on the ways this summer.

Wickliffe May Be Wanted.
Washington, April 23.—Attorney General Wickliffe may be called before the Hallinger investigating committee as the result of charges today made by Brandels, of the prosecution, that Wickliffe mistated facts in his summary made to the president of the charges brought against Hallinger by Glavis. It is hinted the prosecution will try to prove the summary was written in November and dated September 11, 1909. The president wrote a letter exonerating Hallinger in September. He couldn't have seen the letter if it was written in November.

JOHN B. HOBSON

DIES AT SHREVEPORT OF CONSUMPTION.

Dr. P. H. Stewart received a telegram from his wife at Shreveport, La., last night announcing the death of her brother, Mr. John B. Hobson, formerly of Paducah. His death occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness of consumption.

Mr. Hobson was 44 years old and was the son of Col. H. H. Hobson, of Paducah. He was an excellent musician and could play almost every instrument. For several years he was leader of the orchestra at the Kentucky theater. When he resigned he went on a tour with Professor John Dean's orchestra. Three years ago Mr. Hobson left Paducah and settled at Shreveport, where he represented a music concern. His health had been failing since he left here.

Mrs. Stewart, his only sister, was called to his bedside a week ago and was with him at death.

He leaves his sister and two brothers, Messrs. Joe Hobson, of San Francisco, Cal., and Emory Hobson, of Mitchell, S. D. Two daughters, Misses Rosebud and Little Hobson, of Sixth and Madison streets, Paducah, also survive him. The funeral and burial were conducted this afternoon at Shreveport.

Coroner Eaker Worse

There was a sudden change in the condition of Coroner Frank Eaker last night at Hot Springs, where he has been for several weeks. He has been suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. A telegram was received by Mrs. Eaker advising her to leave for Hot Springs at once, as it was thought Mr. Eaker could not live over 24 hours. Accompanied by her brother-in-law, William Carter, Mrs. Eaker left this morning at 4 o'clock.

MURDER CHARGE

$83 was raised for Mrs. Mollie Thompson, of Birmingham, Ala., mother of Luther Thompson, who was found murdered two weeks ago near Littleville.

A handsome caquet was purchased for $55 and a railroad ticket to Decatur, Ala., was furnished Mrs. Thompson. The freight charges for the body were paid today out of the money, leaving $15. This was given Mrs. Thompson to pay for a railroad ticket from Decatur to Birmingham.

This afternoon at 1 o'clock the Rev. G. T. Sullivan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, conducted a short funeral service over the body of Thompson. The body was sent at 2:30 o'clock to Decatur, Ala., over the N. & C. St. L. railroad, accompanied by Mrs. Thompson. The burial will be held here Sunday, the body to be laid beside ## Indictment Dismissed.

The indictment returned at the sitting of the grand jury in January against former Sheriff John W. Ogilvie for failing to make his settlement within the prescribed time was dismissed this morning by the commonwealth in circuit court. It was never considered that the indictment would be prosecuted.

Walter Laney, a jockey, was acquitted this morning on a charge of grand larceny. Laney rode at the fair in Paducah last year, and was indicted for stealing a saddle and a riding suit belonging to Enoch Linn and Tobe Scott, who managed "Waddle Lee." At the trial Laney testified that money was due him from the owners of the horse, and he took the riding colors for the debt. The jury was but a few minutes in agreeing that Laney was not guilty.

The most interesting part of the trial was the attempt of S. F. Wilford, an attorney of Harrisburg, Ill., to impeach the testimony of Enoch Linn. He called several county officials and other citizens to testify. Mr. Linn became angry, and arose as if to take personal vengeance on Wilford, but Judge Reed ordered him to take his seat or a fine for contempt of court would be administered.

Pallman Indictment.

The indictment against the Pallman company, charging a violation of the separate coach law, was dismissed and re-submitted to the grand jury. Several months ago Sam Langford, a colored prizefighter, rode through McCracken county, it is alleged, in one of the regular sleeping cars occupied by white passengers. The indictment was dismissed because of a defect, and on the new indictment the Illinois Central railroad will be made a defendant.

Orders.

The appeal of J. H. Eggn against the City of Paducah was reset for April 30. Eggn is testing the city ordinance requiring loan companies to pay a license of $250.

Twelve petit jurors were discharged at noon and Judge Reed drew 24 names from the jury wheel for the purpose of filling the vacancies. The jurors discharged are: George Flanagan, W. H. Stringer, W. H. Culp, R. J. Holdry, John Harris, T. S. Heady, S. Menard, C. E. Jennings, Luke Russell, W. W. Harper, Joe Frost, J. M. Byrd.

Other Cases.

Two years in the penitentiary was the verdict returned this morning by the jury in the case of Pete Harris, colored, charged with the malicious cutting of Ike Brown. The evidence was heard yesterday afternoon, but the jury failed to agree until this morning.

The next time John Taylor, colored, is subpoenaed to appear in circuit court as a witness he will be more careful about reaching the court house. Yesterday afternoon he was subpoenaed to appear in court this morning by Deputy Sheriff Charles Clark. Taylor announced he would appear, and this morning an attachment was issued for him. Judge Reed announced a fine of $25 and 24 hours in the county jail.

Henry Mitchecon, colored, indicted for maintaining a nuisance, was acquitted yesterday afternoon.

The four trials of Charles Tyler, colored, charged with detaining a woman against her will, were set for April 27.

The trial of Van Redd, colored, charged with escaping from jail, was continued until the special criminal term.

Cliff Thompson, colored, indicted under the name of Cliff Thomas, was fined $25 and 30 days in the county jail for carrying a weapon concealed. The charge of pointing a pistol was dismissed.

But it is such a crime because it is unjust, not because it is war. The choice must ever be in favor of righteousness, and this whether the alternative be peace or whether the alternative be war. The question must be, is the right to prevail? Are the great laws of righteousness once more to be fulfilled? And the answer from a strong and virile people must be, "Yes," whatever the cost. Every honorable effort should always be made by the individual in private life to keep out of

S.S.S. OLDEST & BEST BLOOD PURIFIER

Time is the supreme test of all things, and the very best recommendation of S. S. S. is that it has stood along test and is now often used, and has the confidence of a greater number of people than any other blood medicine.

The blood is the vital force of life; the health-preserving element and motive power of the system. Every organ, nerve, muscle, tissue and sinew of the body is dependent directly on the blood for nourishment and strength. As it circulates through the system, pure and rich, it furnishes to these different members the healthful properties needed to sustain and enable them to perform their various duties. So long as the blood remains free from infection we are apt to be healthy, but any impurity, humor or poison in the circulation affects some portion of the general health.

Bad blood may come from various causes, such as sluggish condition of the system, imperfect bowel and kidney action, indigestion, etc., or the trouble may be inherited, but whatever the source the blood must be purified before the body can be healthy. Pustular eruptions, pimples, rashes, and the various skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish condition as the result of some humor, or the presence of an irritating, fiery acid. Rheumatism comes from an excess of uric acid in the circulation, while Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, and Contagious Blood Poison, are all deep-seated blood disorders.

BUILDS UP THE HEALTH.
I have used S. S. S. quite extensively, and know it to be the best of blood purifiers. It is vegetable, as you claim, and does not injure the system in the least, but on the contrary builds up the general health while ridding the blood of all poisons and impurities. I feel better in every way since taking your medicine, and am firm in the opinion that it is all you claim for it in the cure of blood troubles.

It freshens and enriches the blood and cures promptly and permanently Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores, and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood disorders. S. S. need. Is it to remember that the chief of blessings for any nation is that it shall leave its seed to inherit the land. It was the crown of blessings in Biblical times; and it is the crown of blessings now.

Character must show itself in the man's performance both of the duty he owes himself and of the duty he owes the state. The man's foremost duty is owed to himself and his family; and he can do this duty only by earning money, by providing what is essential to material well-being; it is only after this has been done that he can hope to build a higher superstructure on the solid material foundation: it is only after this has been done that he can help in movements for the general well-being. He must pull his own weight first, and only after this can his surplus strength be of use to the general public.

Nevertheless, while laying all stress on this point, while not merely acknowledging but insisting upon the fact that there must be a basis of material well-being for the individual as for the nation, let us with equal emphasis insist that this material well-being represents nothing but the foundation, and that the foundation, though indispensable, is worthless unless upon it is raised the superstructure of a higher life. That is why I decline to recognize the mere multi-millionaire, the man of mere wealth, as an asset of value to any country; and especially as not such an asset to my own country. If he has earned or won his wealth in a way that makes him of real benefit, of real use—and such is often the case—why, then he does become an asset of worth. But it is the way in which it has been earned or used, and not the mere fact of wealth, that entitles him to the credit.

In fact, it is essential to good citizenship clearly to understand that there are certain qualities which we in a democracy are prone to admire in and of ourselves, which ought by right to be judged admirable or the reverse solely from the standpoint of the use made of them. Foremost among these I should include two very distinct gifts—the gift of money-making and the gift of oratory. Money-making, the money touch, I have spoken of above. It is a quality which in a moderate degree is essential. It may be useful when developed to a very great degree, but only if accompanied and controlled by other qualities; and without such control the possessor tends to develop into one of the least attractive types produced by a modern industrial democracy. So it is with the orator. It is highly desirable that a leader of opinion in a democracy should be able to state his views clearly and convincingly. But all that the orator can do of value to the community is to enable the man thus to expound himself; if it enables the orator to persuade his hearers to put false values on things, if it merely makes him a power for mischief, the phrase-maker, the phrase-monger, the ready talker, however great his power, whose speech does not make for courage, sobriety, and right understanding, is simply a noxious element in the body politic, and it speaks ill for the public if he has influence over them. To admire the gift of oratory without regard to the moral quality behind the gift is to do wrong to the republic.

Of course all that I say of the orator applies with even greater force to the orator's latter-day and more influential brother, the journalist. The power of the journalist is great, but he is entitled neither to respect nor admiration because of that power unless it is used aright. He can do, and he often does, great good. He can do, and he often does, infinite mischief.

In short, the good citizen in a republic must realize that he ought to possess two sets of qualities, and that neither avails without the other. He must have those qualities which make for efficiency; and he must also have those qualities which direct the efficiency into channels for the public good. He is useless if he is inefficient. There is nothing to be done with that type of citizen of whom all that can be said is that he is harmless. Virtue which is dependent upon a sluggish circulation is not impressive. There is little place in active life for the timid good man. The man who is saved by weakness from robust wickedness is likewise rendered immune from the robust virtues. The good citizen in a republic must first of all be able to hold his own. He is no good citizen unless he has the ability which will make him work hard and which at need will make him fight hard. The good citizen is not a good citizen unless he is an efficient citizen.

But if a man's efficiency is not guided and regulated by a moral sense, then the more efficient he is the worse he is, the more dangerous to the body politic. Courage, intellect, all the masterful qualities, serve but to make a man more evil if they are used merely for that man's own advancement, with brutal indifference to the rights of others. It speaks ill for the community if the community worships these qualities and treats their possessors as heroes, regardless of whether the qualities are used rightly or wrongly. It makes no difference as to the precise way in which this sinister efficiency is shown.

The citizen must have high ideals and yet be able to achieve them in practical fashion. No permanent good comes from aspirations so lofty that they have grown fantastic and have become impossible and indeed undesirable to realize.

We can just as little afford to follow the doctrinaires of an extreme individualism as the doctrinaires of an extreme socialism. Individual initiative, so far from being discouraged, should be stimulated; and yet we should remember that, as society develops and grows more complex, we continually find that things which once it was desirable to leave to individual initiative can, under the changed conditions, be performed with better results by common effort. It is not good to be the slave of names. I am a strong individualist by personal habit, inheritance, and conviction; but it is a mere matter of common sense to recognize that the state, the community, the citizens acting together, can do a number of things better than if they were left to individual action.

There should, so far as possible, be equality of opportunity to render service; but just so long as there is inequality of service there should and must be inequality of reward.

Let us try to level up, but let us beware of the evil of leveling down. If a man stumbles, it is a good thing to help him to his feet. Every one of us needs a helping hand now and then. But if a man lies down, it is a waste of time to try to carry him; and it is a very bad thing for every one if we make men feel that the same reward will come to those who shirk their work and to those who do it.

Among Nations.

So much for the citizenship of the individual in his relations to his family, to his neighbor, to the state. There remain duties of citizenship which the state, the aggregation of all the individuals, owes in connection with other states, with other nations. Let me say at once that I am no advocate of a foolish cosmopolitanism. I believe that a man must be a good patriot before he can be, and as the only possible way of being, a good citizen of the world.

In the dim future all moral needs and moral standards may change; but at present, if a man can view his own country and all other countries from the same level with rapid indifference, it is wise to distrust him.

As yet, as a rule, each nation is of necessity obliged to judge for itself in matters of vital importance between it and its neighbors, and actions must of necessity, where this is the case, be different from what they are where, as among private citizens, there is an outside force whose action is all-powerful and must be looked in any crisis of importance. It is the duty of wise statesmen, gifted with the power of looking ahead, to try to encourage and build up every movement which will substitute or tend to substitute some other agency of force in the settlement of international disputes. It is the duty of every honest statesman to try to guide the nation so that it shall not wrong any other nation. But as yet the great civilized peoples, if they are to be true to themselves and to the cause of humanity and civilization, must keep ever in mind that in the last resort they must possess both the will and the power to resent wrongdoing from others. The men who preach righteousness; but they do not preach weakness, whether among private citizens or among nations. We believe that our ideals should be high, but not so high as to make it impossible to measurably to realize them. We sincerely and earnestly believe in peace; but if peace and justice conflict, we scorn the man who would not stand for justice though the whole world came in arms against him.

And now, my hosts, a word in parting. You and I belong to the only two republics among the great powers of the world. The ancient friendship between France and the United States has been, on the whole, a sincere and disinterested friendship. A calamity to you would be a sorrow to us. But it would be more than that. In the swirling turmoil of the history of humanity certain nations stand out as possessing a peculiar power or charm, some special gift of beauty or wisdom or strength, which puts them among the immortal, which makes them rank forever with the leaders of mankind. France has won, nearly seven centuries ago, the title of one of these nations. For her to fall would be a disaster to all the world.

There are certain lessons of brilliance and of generous gallantry that she can teach better than any of her sister nations. When the French peasantry sang of Marseilles, it was to tell how the soul of this warrior-foe took flight upward through the laurels he had won. Nearly seven centuries ago, in the teaching and uplifting of mankind, France was never so stricken that there were not left men who would valiantly fight for it. You have had a great past. I believe that you will have a great future. Long may you carry yourselves proudly as citizens of a nation which bears a leading part in the teaching and uplifting of mankind.

And that's the reason why Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are advertised so little now-a-days. They have made hundreds of thousands of cures in the past 40 years, and some of the grateful people whom they have restored to health are to be found almost everywhere. There's scarcely a hamlet that don't contain some. Look them up. Interview them. They are living, walking, active advertisements.

For Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines.

You can believe your neighbors. Therefore ask them. What cured them will very likely cure you, if similarly afflicted—only give them a good, fair trial.

It's a good, sound, common sense policy to use medicines only of KNOWN COMPOSITION, and which contain neither alcohol nor habit-forming drugs. The most intelligent people, and many of the most successful, conscientious physicians, follow this judicious course of action. The leading medical authorities, of all schools of medicine, endorse the ingredients composing Dr. Pierce's medicines. These are plainly printed on wrappers and attested under oath. There's no secrecy; an open publicity, square-deal policy is followed by the makers.

We have a profound desire to avoid all offense to the most delicate sensitiveness of modest women, for whom we entertain the most sincere respect and admiration. We shall not, therefore, particularize here concerning the symptoms and peculiar ailments incident to the sex for which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has for more than 40 years proven such a boon. We cannot, however, do a better service to the afflicted of the gentler sex than to refer them to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a great family doctor book of 1000 pages, bound in cloth and given away gratis, or sent, post-paid, on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps—to cover cost of mailing only, or 21 cents for paper covered book. All the delicate ailments and matters about which every woman, whether young or old, single or married, should know, but which their sense of delicacy makes them hesitate to ask even the family physician about, are made plain in this great book. Write for it. Address: WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Pres., 663 Main Street, Little Rock, Ark., U. S. A.

New Edison Records for MAY

THIS month's Edison Record list is remarkable in that it introduces two new Grand Opera stars of the Manhattan Opera House, New York—Carmen Melis, prima donna; and Gustav Huberdeau, basso; besides records by Marguerita Sylva, Blanche Arral and Riccardo Martin. ## People Will Talk You Know

And that's the reason why Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are advertised so little now-a-days. They have made hundreds of thousands of cures in the past 40 years, and some of the grateful people whom they have restored to health are to be found almost everywhere. There's scarcely a hamlet that don't contain some. Look them up. Interview them. They are living, walking, active advertisements.

The Rules Governing the Local Contest Are Simple and Easily Followed

Any boy under 16 years of age can enter the contest.

You may draw any kind of a picture you like, either serious or humorous (the real red goose is shown in this ad, and scattered about are some of her funny cousins).

You can make the drawing of the RED GOOSE only, or it can be a scene in which the RED GOOSE is a prominent character.

You can draw the picture in black and white with pen and ink, or pencil, or crayon, or it can be drawn in colors with crayon or your water colors.

You can draw one picture or as many as you like. There is no limit to the number you can enter (our advice is to draw only a few and make these as good as you can).

First, The drawing must be made on a good clean sheet of drawing paper or drawing board, about the same size as those used in the drawing classes in your school.

Second, your name, your parents' or guardians' name, your home address, your age at your nearest birthday, and the name of your school must be plainly written on the back.

Third, the drawing must be brought in by yourself and handed in at our Shoe Department. (An exception will be made for those children who through sickness or misfortune cannot come in person).

The Contest Closes August 1st, 1910

And on or before that date all of your drawings must be presented. You can bring them in as much earlier as you like. The prizes will be awarded three weeks later, as the committee will require this amount of time to select the best.

Now all you boys and girls, let's see how well you can draw. Make a picture of the RED GOOSE and bring it in as soon as you have it finished. And come in and see the big RED GOOSE Exhibition. This is something every boy and girl should see.

All grown people and children are invited to see the Red Goose. Every one should come and see the Only and Original Red Goose, at Harbour's Department Store, North Third street.
